

SIXTH LESSON

BY EVOLUTION ENG

THERE'S AND THERE ARE

You can use "There's" (= There is) and "There are" to say what is in a place

Use There's / There is + a singular noun (= 1 thing):

There's a park in my neighborhood.

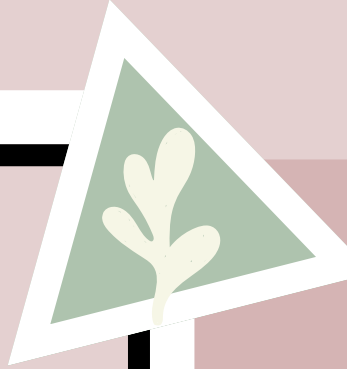

THERE'S AND THERE ARE

Use There are + a plural noun (= 2 or more things):

There are three restaurants

QUANTIFIERS

A / an both mean one. Use a / an with singular nouns:

1. There's a park. (The first letter of park is not a, e, i, o, or u.)
 2. There's an outdoor café. (The first letter of outdoor café is o.)
 3. There's one park and there's one outdoor café.
-
-

LIST OF ADJECTIVES TO PAIR THE OPPOSITE OF ALL OF THEM

Expensive
Boring
Small
New Quiet
Bad

Interesting
Good
Noisy
Cheap
Big
Old

THANK YOU

